 they will forego attending other conventions with expenses paid.
PROCLAMATIONS: The mayor proclaimed: October 14, 20, Oil Progress Week; October 24, United Nations Day; October 27, YMCA Good Neighbor Day.

BREAKFAST: October 14 is a fund-raising pancake breakfast, sponsored by the local Masonic lodge, according to Councilman Willys Blount.
APPOINTMENT: Herbert Albright was appointed to fill the recreation commission vacancy left by Anthony Blott.
FRANKLIN: Charles Franklin will lead a motorcade through town Friday, 2-4:30 p.m.

ROADS: Three major streets in Torrance will be improved as a result of a $45,183 appropriation of County funds which was approved Tuesday by Supervisor Burton W. Chace. The appropriation which will come out of the County's Aid to Cities Fund will finance the improvement of Yukon Avenue from Redondo Beach Boulevard to council, controlling the erection of signs and bill boards. He asked for a 30-day extension of the present freeze-period on signs, in order to come up with a proper ordinance. Drale and Blount defeated this motion, which required a four-fifth vote to pass as an emergency measure.

Half A Loaf...
 Councilman Jahn, who had sided with Isen and Benstead—favoring the time extension—now went along with Blount and Drale favoring the "modified" ordinance, rather than reverting back to the even looser original ordinance. Jahn figured that some control was better than none. However, the "modified" ordinance is still loose enough to bust the city wide-open for bill boards, Isen indicated. Since the ordinance did not pass as an emergency measure (Isen and Benstead continuing their opposition), it must come up for a second reading next Tuesday at the 5:30 p.m. council meeting. The mayor indicated after the council meeting that he hoped for an aroused public opinion on the part of residents, homeowners, and clubs to oppose the measure.
